In person Grad Groups will be conducted following these safety measures:

- As volunteers, often hosting out of their own homes, we leave certain safety protocols up to the comfortability of grad group leaders. As such, they may require proof of vaccination to attend their in-person groups.
- Meeting outside is encouraged
- Maintain social distance between participants where possible
- Follow any local ordinances and regulations that are more restrictive than these protocols

Participants experiencing any symptoms of Covid-19 including cough, fever, sore throat, or any indication of being unwell, are asked not to attend. While affiliated with and supported by the Hoffman Institute, Hoffman graduate groups are run by volunteer graduate leaders and not the Institute itself. Your safety and health are your responsibility.

The below safety measures are on the conservative side, but as we welcome the first in-person meetings in a year and a half, we feel this is a perfect start. We will be updating them regularly and adjusting as is appropriate.

In person Grad Groups will be conducted following these safety measures:

- Meet outside whenever possible
- Maintain at least 6ft of distance between participants
- All participants to wear a mask at all times (regardless of vaccination status or negative covid test)
- No hugging or touching
- All Hoffman graduates are welcome
